Sensation Subduing.

St. Louis, Mo., August 19.—(Special Telegram to the Bee.)—The intense excitement yesterday afternoon to a large extent, owing to the adjournment of the coroner's jury for a week and the consequent lack of new developments. New and very important news brought to light today in the person of a German mechanic, who witnessed the killing of Rev. Haddock, but had heretofore been afraid to make the fact known, lest he would be hanged. Last night, however, he told his employer what he knew and had seen. The latter at once informed the officials. At the convening of the jury next week his testimony will be taken.

Another man, who has held back from fear, was found today and subpoenaed. Scarcely a day passes but what some new facts and developments of a like nature are brought to light, proving the wisdom of the jury's delay in rendering a verdict.

An officer, who knows said to the Bee reporter today: "You will be surprised when you hear of the number of men who are in the conspiracy." It is now positively ascertained that H. F. Leavitt is one of the four men who drove to Greenville in the closed hack, following the Rev. Haddock, on the night of the murder. During the adjournment of the jury the police are pushing the investigation, using such points as have been developed by the police thus far.

John King and Charles Waller appeared in the police court today. They were pale, nervous and considerably agitated, and were arraigned for conspiring against the life of the Rev. Thomas W. Walker on the night of August 3, the same night Rev. Haddock was murdered. They entered a plea of "not guilty" and were committed to jail.

Iowa's Veteran Visitors.

DES MOINES, Ia., August 19.—(Special Telegram to the Bee.)—The city is gayly and elaborately decorated with flags and bunting in honor of the Mexican veterans, who are holding their state and national reunion in this city.

Today the exercises have been under the direction of the state association, and tomorrow the national association has charge. A national salute will be fired at sunrise ushered in today's exercises. The veterans, on arriving, reported to the general officers, whose tents are pitched in court house, and at 2 p. m. formed in line and marched to the pavilion rink, where a business session of the association was held.

This evening there was a grand camp-fire, at which speeches were made by Colonel John Scott, of Nevada, General McCadden, of Indiana, and other Mexican veterans from all parts of the United States are represented in the reunion, and great enthusiasm is being manifested by the members of the association and citizens generally. There are about two hundred of the Mexican veterans here to-night and many more are expected to-morrow. As they marched to the music of the life and drum this afternoon they presented a pathetic sight, their limbs advanced in life, their faces lined and weathered, and all of them riddled and weathered. One of the veterans of the reunion is Michael French, of Story county, who served in the war of 1812. Special attention is paid to this old veteran, who was born in New York in 1792. He was wounded at the battle of Quebec, and still carries in his arm a British bullet which he received there. He afterwards served in the Blackhawk war, being then a resident of Illinois. The following officers reported to the reunion: Colonel W. T. Shaw, Anamosa, president; S. T. Brown, Newton, vice president; M. R. Priestly, Des Moines, secretary and treasurer; Captain J. W. Griffin, Des Moines, marshal; Captain Kenney, quartermaster.

The second brigade of the Iowa national guards, now in camp at Marshalltown, had a gala day today. A special train from here carried Governor Ames and his staff, and an escort, the governor's guards. Thousands of visitors were at the camp, and the dress parade was reviewed by Adjutant General Alexander, Brigadier General Benson, Governor Larrabee and many other civil and military officials.

The Cutting Embargo.

WASHINGTON, August 19.—(Special Telegram to the Bee.)—A special to the New York World today says there is little doubt that when the Mexican troubles are settled Secretary Bayard will resign. A correspondent claims to know that the secretary of state is anxious to leave his present position owing to his failure to win the support of the American people in the cutting affair. The correspondent also adds that Assistant Secretary Porter will resign as soon as the business of the state is cleared up. Porter's resignation is said to be due to his relations with Bayard's private secretary, Bryan, are not cordial. Little can be learned at the department in regard to the alleged intentions of "the secretary of state and his first assistant, but the prediction is generally regarded as a correct one. Jeff Davis on Democracy.

NEW ORLEANS, August 19.—(Special Telegram to the Bee.)—Jefferson Davis was among the visitors to the Sixth Mississippi Congressional district nominating convention in Mississippi City yesterday. He was enthusiastically received, and in response to repeated calls, he said as a Mississippian at large he could address the convention. He had visited the state of Louisiana, the state of congressmen and the danger now always to be apprehended that the position would be taken by the federal government to the question of Cleveland's appointments, Davis said the president was entirely new to national politics, therefore could not be expected to escape serious mistakes. In regard to the negro vote, Davis said southern democrats should be congratulated upon having won the right of citizenship. He said the negro vote should be used to strengthen the strength to oppress the blacks he denounced as calumnious; he trusted a Mississippian would not take an unfair advantage of ignorance.

A Reprehensible Practice.

YORK, Neb., August 19.—(Special Telegram to the Bee.)—Israel Lentz was arrested and brought to this city last night, charged with stealing 167 bushels of corn from Joseph E. Hoover, and within the hour of his arrest, the theft is alleged to have been committed March 1, 1885, and why Mr. Hoover allowed the matter to rest for over a year and a half is a mystery. This morning Mr. Hoover's attorneys settled the matter and dismissed the prosecution by inducing Lentz to pay for the corn and damages. This morning, Lentz was carried out to the county jail, where he is being held. The sheriff often being compelled to go long distances to arrest prisoners, and in some cases to give them up to the courts, as is afterwards disclosed, only to enable the complaining witness to receive his money. This practice has become too frequent and the officers have become disgusted running men down and returning them to the hands of justice, only to be paid to satisfy the claim of some one anxious to recover a money difference.

MR FORTUNE'S FORTUNE.

An Error in a Deed and an Absconding Partner Takes It.

An opinion of Judge Brewer in the case of M. Fortune vs John Y. Smith et al was received at the office of the clerk of the United States district court yesterday.

This was a bill to correct an error in a deed and clear the title to certain real estate. In 1885 Smith was a cattle dealer living at North Bend, and doing business with Rumsey & Buell, a Chicago commission firm, through one of their agents, M. Fortune, the plaintiff in the action.

In January 1885, Smith and Fortune formed a partnership, Fortune putting in $5,000 in cash, $5,000 in notes, and $5,000 borrowed from Rumsey & Buell on the joint note of Fortune and Smith.

In April of the same year Smith made a deed conveying to Fortune the property known as the opera house at North Bend to secure Fortune for money he had put into the firm.

By mistake another property was described in the deed. Later in the year Smith absconded, owing Rumsey & Buell $22,000, and they attached all of his property.

Fortune agreed to let them go on with their attachment until they secured the $22,000 in cash. Later in the year Smith absconded, owing Rumsey & Buell $22,000, and they attached all of his property.
